JOSEPH FLOYD. August 10, 1638.

A MOTHER'S GRIEF: To mark the sufferings of the babe That cannot speak its wee; To see the infant's tears gush forth; Yet know not why they flow; To meet the meek, uplified eye, That frin would ask roller,

Yet can but tell of agony-

This is a mother's grief. Through dreary days and darker nights, To trace the march of death; To hear the faint and frequent sigh-The quick and shortened breaths To watch the last dread strife draw near And pray that struggle brief; Though all be ended with the close—

This is a mother's grief. To see, in one short hour decayed The hope of future years; To feel how vain a father's prayers, How vain a mother's tears; To think that the cold grave must close O'er what was once the chief

Of all the treasured joys of earth-This is a mother's grief. Yet when the first wild throb is past Of anguish and despair. To fill the eye of forth in heaven; And think the child is there! This best can dry the gushing tear,

This vields the heart relief.

Until the Christian's pious hope O'ercomes a mother's grief. WOMAN'S LOVE.

There is a feeling of the heart, A thought within the bosom's swell, Which woman's eyes alone impart-Which woman's blush alone can tell! Man may be cold in love's disguise, And feels not balf the flame he speaks! But woman's love is in her eyes-It glows upon her burning cheeks!

MOBILE ELECTION. We have the pleasure of informing our Demoesterday in a complete Democratic victory. We have no guns to fire, no artificial carthquakes, no shouts to rend the air, no prairries to burn. We leave that mode of triumph to that party which never spares a fallen for & ceuses to by on the lash while they hold the whip handle. It is sufficient for us to say, that our true-hearted Democracy have gone into an unequal contest; with all the odds against them. The issue was fairly presented; the struggle was upon pure party questions, without collai-teral issues to distract the expression of public opinion from the great issue. Van Buren an independent Treasury, and Democratic Republicana, were bold. ly pitted against Clay and a National Pank. The result is a Democratic majority of one huildred and fifty votes in Mobile County. In some of the preints in the county, not a rote was polled for Whigs: Our whole ticket is elected, and the greatest triumple of all is, that we have wrested one city from our enimies. In Mobile we have beaten the enemy 50 votes-a triumph never achieved before it is worthy af remark, that the Judges and Inspectors of the elections, were all Whigs. The County Court, (the appointing power being Whig) allowed our party no voice in the Board of Inspectors, a specimen of aliberality unprecedented in the WILL give Lessons in music on the Piano annals of elections. It is believed by the Democra-Forte at her residence in Columbus .-- cy that at least one hundred legal Democratic votes

> The Democrats of Mobile deserve the "well done" approbation of their friends throughout the Union. They applied themselves to the buisiness of voting with a good will and resolution, that gave cheering hope in the beginning of the election, that victory would be ours. The Whigs were so confident of success, that it is said they had made preparation for a great triumph, and had engaged all the foreral apparatus for burrying the Democracy. They have richly merited deleat in this county, by the open contempt they have expressed for "Democracy," for their arrogant assumptions of superiority, and for their arrogant use of every engine which they could possibly turn to account. True principle has never been more gloriously vindicated-and the Democracy of the Union may rest assured that Alabama will not bend the knee to a Bank idolatry!-Mobile Register.

"A Wing festival took place at Harve de Grace. on Tuesday, Messrs. Prentiss. Kennedy, Mepifee and Wise, of the House of Representatives were among the invited guests," - State Gazette.

Here's a pretty kettle of fish. Prentiss, Manifee, and Wise, among the invited guests of a Whig Festival !! What a wise and well selected party this must have been. Such honorable mer, too! A real multion in parco, comprising " all the talent," and " all the decency" of the Federal party. In the language of a son of Emeraid's Isle, who peeped ento a Bachelor's Half, "kape me from sich all the days of my life." Trenton Emporium.

The Letter .- A letter, purporting to have been written by Thomas Jefferson, in 1823, speaking in the highest terms of Henry Clay, and now going the rounds for the second time, has once more been branded as a forgery and sent to its long home, where we hope it may ever remain. It was first ascertained to have been written by a man of the name of S. S Southworth, who was the editor, at that time, of the Literary Substern, published in Rhods Island. If all the whig editors, who have published the forged letter, will come out as manly and independent as, the editor of the Cincinnati Whig, they will entitle themselvos to the praise or the honorable of all parties. Honesty is a jewel .- G. Gulf Adr.

Interesting dialogus .- "Good mornin, Sambo; bress you - what er makey you look so glad so arly dis mornin, fore you eat your breffast?", "Oh, Lordy, Cesar! you no hear de news! Phillis got a baby! il" "You don't say so!-what is it!" "Guess." "A boy." "No." "A gish." "Har! har! har! har! har! ha! har! har! -some body mus' tell you--you guess so quick !"

A Reasonable Request.-The editor of a "down east" paper requests those of his subscribers who never totend to pay to give him notice as soon as possible.

After the Oration at Bridgetown, (West Jersey,) on the 4th, by Dr. T. Ware, allusion having been made to Gen. EBENEZER ELMER, the old veteran, now in his 87th year, ascended the pulpit and deeply interested the audience by calling up, with a tremulous voice, the scenes and trials of the revolution. He concluded with a fervant exhortation to the present generation to to sustain with uncrasing vigilance the principles of our government, to "study peace, practise economy, love justice, live virtuously, and prepare for a better world hereafter-"
